

Niamh in Wonderland

The time was about four o'clock on a Saturday it is raining and it was a gloomy day. The forest was surrounding her she had a green umbrella and long brown hair she was listening to music. She was about 19. As her hair swayed in the wind she fixed it because it was blowing in her face. She was going back to her car because she had just went for a walk.

Her umbrella blew backwards she chased it she ran and ran after it until she was out of breath She needed it as her mother gave it to her as a present She looked around for it she could not see it. She started to walk and walk and then started to run . Suddenly she fell in a human size badger hole.

She saw a glimpse of light she walked out to it. It was a lovely beautiful reflection of the world above except nice kind and gentle, it was happy. The energy was light and breezy.

She walked out to the reflection. Suddenly a huge rabbit ran out in front of her. Next a man in a red top hat and a very pale face with one bright blue eye and the other dark green. He looked sad one moment and the next delighted. He noticed her and said "ay you how did you get in here I don't mind I am just wondering". "I haven't been up there since I was a boy ". "Oh I just fell through there ". She says as she points toward the tree that was in front of the badger hole " Ah I see "says the man. "What's your name? ". "Niamh and you "she replies with happiness." I'm the mad hatter " he says with a strain in voice 'I need a drink" he says." ok " Niamh says "Would you like some tea " the hatter asked ".Maybe okay I don't know actually yes I would "she decided . "where am i? "she wondered.' 'Do you know that book with the girl and the rabbit? Her name is Alice " the hatter said. "Alice in wonderland" Niamh exclaimed. "Yes" declared the hatter". "I remember her she used to come here not anymore" he cried. "Come on let's get that cup of tea " Niamh says as she tries to cheer him up." "Alright " says the hatter.

When they got to his house he put on the whistle kettle and made the tea. " Custard cream or digestive?" The mad hatter asked ". "Digestive please" Niamh said. When they finished their tea they went to a tea party and had more tea. There was a human sized mouse and hedgehog. Niamh was saying how she got there. The mouse said "you can't get out the way you came ""what" Niamh worried I need to go home.

So she ran and ran until she came to the tree where the badger hole was it was gone. A voice came from the tree above "I want to help you if you do something for me ". Niamh glanced up and saw a hovering set of eyes. "Are you the Cheshire cat?" Niamh questioned. The cat appeared. "How can you get me out "Niamh asked. 'If you let me live with you I will get you out of here " bargained the cat. "Alright"" said Niamh

The Cheshire cat got them out as they were walking back to Niamh's car suddenly Niamh fell to the ground the cat got scared and ran back to wonderland. Niamh lay on the ground until a person found her and nursed her back to health.
